Hacks Decoded: Seyi Akiwowo, Founder of Glitch
Seyi Akiwowo's reputation precedes her. Akiwowo is the founder of Glitch, an organization that seeks to end online abuse. We spoke with Seyi over video chat to learn about what drives her, why she does what she does and what she'd be doing if not battling trolls online for a living. The post Hacks Decoded: Seyi Akiwowo, Founder of Glitch appeared first on Mozilla Hacks - the Web developer blog.
